As things go these days, such a reputrinon should either make Senator Quay President or place him on the Supreme it must be admitted, however, that he is better fitted for President show to don the comine. As a hidee Senator Quey would be out of policies, which would be a little like transferring Satura from the infernal regions to some desert island. His back is better adapted to bearing the odium, scandal and opprobraum of duty politics than it is to wear the mantle of a judge, and perhaps it is well that south is the case, for if Senator Quay wanted a judgeship he would get it

FREE LEGAL ADVICE.

The American Bar Association, now in residon at Detroit, Mich., seems determined to go on record as legal adviser to the general public and also as the dispenser of a large amount of granuitous advice Day before resterday Judge Taft, of the United States circuit court, excoriated Dete, relicated the governors of several Bistes for having the remerity to condemn the Federal courts, and in doing so rendeted an opinion as to the legal status of omnined labor, which would have cost a thousand dollars had it been given to a. corneration witten the walls of a law Yesterday the association, in the especity of public legal adviser, took up the fodian question and gave a little free odrice to the Department of the Interior.

Were it possible for the Bur Association to discuse public questions without preju-More the requit would be beneficial. But most of its members are counsel for corporations, and their equilons are more or less blased in behalf of their clients. The only inspely profitable law practice nowadays is in the employ of corporations, and nearly all the best legal minds of the country are engaged in that practice. For that reason It is plain that discussion in the Bar Assoclation on subjects in which corporations are interested must necessarily be from

In his address, Judge Taft claimed that If the necistance of the Federal courts were heatile to the messes it was the fault of the law and not of the judges. To an extent this is true. Congress is largely number up of corporation lawyers, many of whom are paid armual retainers, to secure their value and influence. Most of the courts are also filled with judges who have been corporation lawyers, who in warfality go twell to that practice at the n of their term of ciffice, and with both lawmakers and the beach engaged in whiching corporation tunes, it must be expected that the public when in trouble will dance to corporation music.

REGULAR MONTHLY NOTICE. But for the fact that possible serious remarkies are involved in the delay, the periodical equalifies of the Commissioners with these street rallway companies that manusing as any fares ever put upon the stage If there were a total Gilbert in composers with a magnificently funny Whentto for a comic opera.

Everybody knows that the Washington and Georgetown and the Columbia companies have deliberately ignored the law and the Commissioners' order made by wirine of it. They make no secret of run- law. Finally they were run to earth antiden Notice has been served upon them ened with the penalties in such cases made and provided for non-compliane within a specified term.

The regular monthly notice is about to be issued to these companies. The Commissioners have signified their intenton of issuing this notice on the first day of eptember. This notice, of course, will run thirty days, a sufficient period for the companies to invent new excuses for delay. Propositions and counter proposiions will be made, the companies treated with the utmost consideration, and the cars run without fenders, or those prescribed by the Commissioners, for another month, when the whole performance may be repeated.

A farce is a good thing, but it can be pushed along too often. Frequent repetitions at short intervals make it disjusting. It would be a pleasing variation If the Commissioners were to cease sending out notices, and, instead, compel the railway magnates to comply with the law.

LYNCHINGS AND THEIR CAUSES. Every lynching is a crime and, at the ame time, an accusation against society in general and against the community in which it occurs in particular. It is a crime secause it overthrows order, defics the law and ignores its regular processes; an ocusation, in that it declares by deed, if not by word, that the course of justice is too lilatory and too uncertain.

There are communities composed of scopic who have but a slight regard for the law, and in these the death penalty is affected according to the temper of the people or the popularity or unpopularity of the offender. These, however, are in the minority. In the majority of instances the lyneming is the result of a popular apprehension that the law will fail to mete out the proper punishment. It is the "law's delay," the tedious course of justice that leads to mob violence of this sort.

If punishment followed crime with cerainty and swiftness; if, instead of years intervening between the commission of crime and the punishment of the criminal there were only months; if the imposing of the sentence were not hable to be over thrown and the action of court and jury nullified, people would be less impatient and typehings less frequent Lynchings are unknown in England, in Germany, in France, in almost any of the European countries. Why? The people here are not more intelligent than are the people of the United States, they are not more civilized; in many respects ours are their superiors. But they have the dimed confidence in the sure and swift core a of the law; they feel certain that bough justice may miscarry sometimes, the inners are against it; in brief, they respect the law. This is because the law respects maet, as it were, and because the adinteration of justice is carried on with a view to the best interests of the commanily and not for the benefit of the crimmal, axis too often apparently the case here.

WHY NOT DECORATE?

No city in the Union decorates more exiensively or turns out in greater crowds to witness demonstrations than Washington does on public days, and next Monday should be an occasion for making a more elaborate display than ever. It is true that Labor Day in the past has not been looked upon as a time for a general demonstration On the contrary, It is recognized as belonging exclusively to ware-earners, but as they constitute a large class of the city's population it would sively in their behalf as we would on any boliday.

By virtue of the great influence wage arners exert on the country's prosperity, this recognition of Labor Day should be gratefully made. Unless wage-carners thrive, the public at large cannot prosper, and if they have occasion to rejoice everyone should also take part in making their inbitation successful.

Next Monday will be the first of several scossive Labor Days when the future cooks bright and prosperous. Good times or the entire public are near at hand, and no disastrous labor troubles are imminent or in prospective: This reason in itself should be sufficient occurse the public to decorate on Labor Day, and as the display would be accepted as a recognition of the progress and thrift of labor it should be as extensive and claborate as possible.

WHY THIS INCAPACITY?

There are some things as deep as a well, out not hair so difficult to look into. The trolley prosecution is one of them, and were it not so serious it would be ridiculous as an attempt to thwart justice. Apparently actuated by a spirit of public virtue the Star, the Commissioners, and the Department of Justice started out to prosecute the trolley trust offenders. Starrling denunciaory editorials were published by the Star, ailing epon the Commissioners to pull down the poles of the Eckington line and discrard the fender regulation would be prosecute the law-breaking officers of the company.

Frequent interviews were also printed Washington be could furnish any of our in which the Commissioners, the prosecuting attorney, and everybody else in authority professed to be sincerely desirous of getting rid of the overhead trolley. trolley trust in the District at one and the

Then came President Newhold's interview in the Star and the sudden collapse and squeiching of the spasm of public virtue that had prompted the prosecution of the Trolley Trust. With the power in their hands to act and vindicate the law the Commissioners, by their refusal to remove the trolley poles, became tacit con tributors to lawlessness. After lending heir efforts to the hue and cry for the punishment of the Trolley Trust, they put side the opportunity given them by Judg ole and failed to do their duty.

The Star, the Commissioners, and th Department of Justice were fierce in their osccution of the Trolley Trust so long as their efforts could avail nothing, but when authority was given them to execute the law by a decision of the court, they became as powerless as sucking bates.

And why? Because the Star owns a arge block of stock in the Trolley Trust.

Among the things that are bygones but chose memory still lingers is the attempt of the Board of Trade to reform Alexandria county. In order to convince the public of the incerity of its recent conversion the Star should publish an editorial commending the Debs resolutions which are to be en dorsed by organized labor on Labor Day. There is the barest possibility that knic kerbockers look more natty on women than on men, but they are not sufficiently numerous acoung the gentler sex to decide this question definitely.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 29.-It was learned late this afternoon on authority which is considered absolutely reliable, that ex-PostmasterGeneral Wilson S. Bissell, has been offered the place on the United States Supreme Court beach made vacant by the death of Justice Jackson.

The information came from a close friend of Mr. Bissell in this city, and it is stated that the ex-Postmuster General himself revealed the secret before he left Buffalo early this week. Mr. Bissell, so it was stated, received communication direct from Mr. Cleves hand making an unconditional proffer of the appointment. The communication further asked Mr. Bissell to come to see him occurning the matter.

Mr. Bissell, it is also stated, declared se would not take the appointment. In he had often attended its meetings in dis giving his reasons for declining the honor stated to have said:

"I have tried Washington life under favorable circumstances, and I prefer Buffalo. I do not care to return to Washngton, and the offer of the jadgship will not tempt me to do it. I will go to see Mr. Gieveland, but I will not accept the office. I do not want it. I would rather stay in Buffalo."

finquiry at the office of Bissell, Sicord, Blesell & Curry revealed the fact that Mr. Blesell had gone to Marien, on Buzzard's Bay, six miles from Gray Gables, Mr leveland's summer home.

Two Brothers-in-Law Try to Kill Each Other with Pistols.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 29.-A sensational thooring, in which W. A. Culver, a wellknown contractor, and Dr. J. W. Hood were the principals, occurred at 10:30 this morning on Broad street, within a few feet of the spot where Alex Carr shot and killed Capt. King just about one year ago.

Culver fired three shots at Dr. Rood. we of which hit the mark, one striking him under the shoulder and in the other in the right leg just above the knee. The shots were fired while the men were grappling, and Dr. Hood's escape from instant death is considered marvelous As it is, he is not seriously injured.
